VHA Senior Management Conference

By VA's Veterans Canteen Service (Albums) · Updated over a year ago · Taken at Desktop

The 2010 VHA Senior Management Conference was held at the Venetian Hotel and Conference Center in Las Vegas August 24-26, and centered around the theme "Be The Change You Want To See", focusing on VHA's transformation to a new 21st century health care delivery system. It was a great event and included some interesting alternatives to health care and health wellness with offerings in yoga, massage therapy, acupuncture, structural integration therapy (Rolfing), Qi Gong and Tai Chi and more! Here are some highlights..

Chief Operating Officer, Ray Tober chose to pass on the needles of acupuncture for an intensive structural integration therapy call Rolfing, which is like a massage on steroids. You will feel a lot of discomfort, but the end result is amazing

VCS Director Marilyn Iverson had recently injured her leg and was unable to exercise for the past two weeks; that is until she had an acupuncture session

The Venetian Hotel has everything you need to never leave their facility and creates the illusion you are actually in Venice, or at least a movie set of Venice..
